Shen Xinling was born in a poor family. Her parents worked at the night markets in different cities and that made Shen travel around the island very often. Because of her family's unstable lifestyle, she never had a chance to go to preschool. But, she used every opportunity well, like learning words from shop signs which she saw on the street! When she became a fourth grader, she showed an interest in computers.

Though her family was poor, her mother sold a jade bracelet to buy Shen a computer. Shen taught herself computer skills by reading computer books in bookstores for hours every day. She learned to set up her own website at age twelve to help her parents sell clothes online. Then she designed an online system to help farmers sell their pomelos. Later, many companies paid Shen to design their websites. For this, she made NT$1 million when she became fourteen. With her parents' encouragement, she donated all the money!
