My classmate and I were talking about our future jobs at a quarter past twelve yesterday. Half an hour later, our teacher Ms. Lin joined us. She asked, "Nick, what do you want to be?" I said, "I love to go fishing with my dad on weekends, so I want to be a fisherman." But the teacher kept talking, "Now it is hard to catch fish. Also, you can't swim." So I decided to be a police officer instead. Then I can catch the bad guys.

Moreover, Ms. Lin asked my classmate, Lina. She said, "She wants to be a housewife because she enjoys doing housework like mopping the floor and cleaning the kitchen." I am wondering why Lina likes doing those things. When my mom asked me to do housework, I hated to do it. But our parents still give us a lot of support. So we can follow our hearts to do our favorite jobs.
